

How Not to Kill Your Plants

- A Gardening Course for Beginners

Dates	Saturdays from 6 Aug to 10 Sep 2011 (6 sessions)
Time	10am - 12pm
Trainer	Wilson Wong
Venue	Lab, Hands-On House
Fee	$430 per person *T&Cs apply. (Materials included. Registration is required)

This gardening course comprises six classes to equip novice gardeners with knowledge and skills to create and maintain a garden, whether is it an outdoor one in a landed property or in a high-rise apartment. This series of hands-on classes will cover everything you need to know as a beginner from plant selection, plant propagation, pruning, growing media selection, pest and disease management. You will also learn how plants are named, their growth habits, and what they need to thrive.

About the Trainer:

Wilson Wong leads the Horticulture and Outreach section in HortPark & the Southern Ridges. An avid gardener and blogger, he regularly contributes to The Straits Times' "Root Awakening" column and takes part in community gardening. He is also the Founder and Administrator of Green Culture Singapore, and a committee member of the Singapore Gardening Society. Wilson aims to inspire and cultivate greater interest in plants and gardening among Singapore's residents.

Closing date for registration: 29 July 2011. This course will only commence with a minimum of 6 participants. For more information, please contact HortPark Visitor Services Centre at 6471 5601 or NParks_HortPark@nparks.gov.sg.
